

DEAD FRIENDS are a Boston-based, east-meets-west, punk/hardcore band born in the Fall of 2008.

Made up of suspects from several notable national acts, the band has already done several short tours and released their debut full-length album "The After Life".

Mark Doherty (Nowhere USA, Pug Uglies), Tom Ahronian (Superpower), Geno Johnston (Strawhorse, Splint), and Jose Morales (Devour) round out the current lineup.

The record features cameos from Lenny Lashley (Darkbuster), Mark Gaffney (GOZU), Dave Rivers (Tree), and Anthony Snowdale. Doherty and Johnston also wrote a song and performed on Gang Green's latest release.

The band has played shows with Vinny Stigma (Agnostic Front), Street Dogs, Big D And The Kids Table, The Welch Boys, Continental, Slapshot, and Gang Green.

Their sound has best been described as Beastie Boys meets Black Flag with other influences from Orange 9mm, Clutch, and Helmet. The boys have been featured in AMP magazine and have done tours on the west and east coasts.
